

New Website Section - Photo Gallery

Greetings all!

A new section has come online. The Photo Gallery.

Our first entry is the slide show from the July 05, 2006 talk about Panama's Biodiversity Museum.

Our Guest Speaker was Architect Pat Dillon, lead Panamanian architect for the "Museum of BioDiversity" project of internationally-acclaimed Architect Frank Gehry (EN | ES), to be located on the old Fort Amador military reservation, including some PowerPoint photos of concepts.

Some stunning views of the proposed architecture of the museum are there, and some other interesting pictures.

Also of interest...

Please submit your ENTRIES into the Calendar of Events (right side column). Let's keep everyone apprised of happenings of interest to Panama history enthusiasts.

Our first non-phs entry is about a new book signing, SOCIEDAD, ECONOMIA Y CULTURA MATERIAL, HISTORIA URBANA DE PANAMA LA VIEJA by Dr. Alfredo Castellero Calvo.

Enjoy the Picture Gallery.

Sincerely,

Carlos H.
